Off-duty officer

Sorry speeder, we changed our minds

Durham police say officers pulled over an off-duty constable for allegedly driving more than 100 km/h over the speed limit, originally let him go and then reconsidered.

The force confirmed Thursday that veteran constable Thomasz Stefanski received a court summons for speeding recently and could still face other charges including street racing in connection with the May 21 incident.

Police say an officer clocked Stefanski driving his vehicle at 189 km/h in an 80 km/h zone on Regional Road 20 in a rural area of Clarington, east of Oshawa.

If convicted, Stefanski would receive fines and victim surcharges totalling more than $1,300.

Contaminated soil found at school

A routine environmental assessment has revealed soil at a Toronto Catholic school has levels of heavy metals and other pollutants exceeding provincial guidelines.

The Brother Edmund Rice building, which now houses St. Josaphat elementary school has soil samples with elevated levels of lead, cadmium and zinc.

"Ontario has one of the strictest guidelines in North America," said John Yan, a spokesperson for the Toronto Catholic District School Board. "These same results would have passed in 2004. These are fairly new guidelines."

The assessment was done by the French Public School Board as they prepare to purchase the building this fall.

Could GO be answer to expanding T.O. transit?

OneCity transit plan.
Transit watchers say TTC and Metrolinx need to be more integrated to take city's transportation to the next level

Think locally, act regionally

"If you look globally you see that the solutions are always regional, the solutions are always integrated."
Murtaza Haider, Ted Rogers School of Management

Have TTC chair Karen Stintz and vice-chair Glenn De Baeremaeker opened the door to an overdue, public conversation about the potential for greater integration of GO Transit and TTC service?

Their OneCity transit plan, released Wednesday, is the first in the GTA to propose a property-tax based, dedicated transit fund.

In exchange residents would get $30 billion in new transit service that could move 300 million riders over the coming 30 years.

While the TTC and Metrolinx already work together, many transit watchers believe the historically uneasy alliance needs to go to the next level, potentially awarding more authority to Metrolinx, the regional planning agency that also operates GO.

Metrolinx vice-president of policy, planning and innovation Leslie Woo says it's important to recognize the two transit systems do different jobs.

"We shouldn't confuse one or the other," she said.

She added that the two have a history of trying to create better service integration.

"More recently that move has been heightened," said Woo, who points to station design at GO stops such as the one on Bloor Street by Dundas West subway, Kennedy, Mount Dennis and Union as examples.

However Murtaza Haider, associate professor at Ryerson University's Ted Rogers School of Management, says that traditionally, transit planning in Toronto has been done "in a more jurisdictional fashion."

Haider believes GO is the best way out of gridlock because of its capacity to carry heavy rider volumes at high speeds. Even if Metrolinx gains more authority, the TTC will always be "the big gorilla in the room," he said.

But according to transportation consultant and historian Ed Levy, that will be no easy feat.

"It's like Quebec and the rest of the country. They don't talk to each other. They make noises and nothing happens," said Levy. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Crowning 'Miss Holocaust Survivor'

Grinning and waving, 14 women who survived the horrors of the Second World War paraded in an unusual pageant on Thursday, vying for the honour of being crowned Israel's first "Miss Holocaust Survivor." Organizers have billed the pageant as a celebration of life, but the event also stirred controversy in a country where millions have been touched by the Holocaust. Colin Hart admits the impression his anti-cheating wedding band leaves on the wearer's finger — "I Am Married" — lasts only about 15 minutes . The average Torontonian spends 80 minutes a day commuting in their car. That adds up to about a month out of every year.
To drive the point home, Evergreen has enlisted 22-year-old Tanner Zurkoski to live in a Honda Insight — day and night — for four weeks straight

1 guy in 1 car for 1 month — 24/7

ELIZABETH HAMES
toronto@metronews.ca

As Tanner Zurkosi will tell you, he's a little impulsive. This spring, he bought a mandolin on a whim, took up hunting for a day, and toured Vancouver Island on a motorcycle.

So when he saw that Evergreen was looking for someone to spend a month in a car during their MOVE Transportation Expo, he couldn't resist.

"It seemed so ridiculous that I thought I had to apply to it," said the 22-year-old film student and professional sound recorder. "So I did."

To his surprise, the folks at Evergreen picked him to spend 24 hours a day in a Honda Insight for the next month. From the seat of his hybrid, he will Tweet, talk and hold interviews about environmentalism and sustainability.

The feat is meant to highlight the cringe-worthy statistic that Torontonians spend, on average, a month each year commuting in their car.

Although Zurkoski agrees with the idea, he is a little concerned about his comfort over the next month.

At 6'3", most hybrids "fit me like a metal sweater," he says.

However, this won't be the first time he's lived in a vehicle.

Just as he was about to enter the fifth grade, Zurkoski's mother asked him if he wanted to go to school or travel the U.S. and Canada for a year. He, of course, chose the latter. So they left their Vancouver Island home behind and spent the next 12 months drifting from state to province in an old ski bus.

Perhaps his impulsive streak is inherited.

Where to get a MOVE on

MOVE opens at the Brick Works this weekend and runs until the end of October.

MOVE Transportation Expo organizers have divided the Evergreen Brick Works venue into five sections, each tackling a different theme.
The object of these themes is to provoke discussion about sustainability

5 green themes to move you

1 Land use

When Councillor Peter Milczyn made the case for a "balanced and bolder" Toronto earlier this year, he championed mixed-use development as a method of further urbanizing this sprawling city. In a report submitted to the executive council, Milczyn suggested using transit stations as hubs for varied activities that would help transform those areas into more vibrant communities. However, he forgot to mention one little detail. Mixed-used is good for the pocketbook, too. Proximity to rail transit has been shown to increase a home's value by between three and 40 per cent.

2 Environment

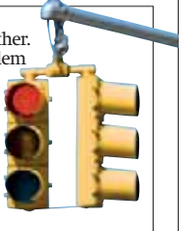
The key to cleaner skies may lie in how we get around. In Toronto, the transportation sector is responsible for about 35 per cent of all Greenhouse Gas emissions. Other Canadian cities, such as Vancouver, have turned their focus to green energy transportation to reduce emissions. In 2009, Vancouver unveiled its electric-powered Canada Line in time for the 2010 Winter Olympic Games. The line connects with the city's electric-powered Sky Train network, as well as its fleet of electric buses.

3 Health

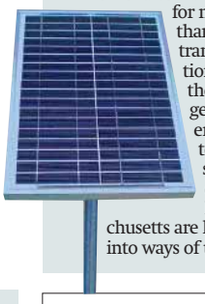
In 2004, Toronto Public Health released a report estimating traffic-related air pollution contributes to about 440 early deaths and 1,700 hospital admissions in the city each year. In Toronto, vehicles are the main source of carbon monoxide and nitrogen dioxide, two potentially dangerous emissions, read the report. Toronto Public Health estimates a 30 per cent reduction in emissions could result in 200 fewer early deaths, and save about $900 million in health care costs each year.

4 Infrastructure

Despite repeated calls for synchronized traffic lights, Toronto already has coordinated signal light systems on many of its major arteries — but most days you wouldn't know it. Synchronized traffic lights are set up to keep traffic of a certain speed flowing. If traffic speed changes due to gridlock, the system doesn't work properly and drivers can be stuck at one red after another. The problem will likely worsen as more people move into the Toronto area. Torontonians' average daily commute of 80 minutes is expected to double by 2031, leading some to speculate it could be the year of total gridlock.



5 Energy



Canada's nearly 900,000 km of road could be good for more than just transportation — they could generate energy, too. Researchers in Massachusetts are looking into ways of using the sun's heat absorbed by black asphalt to generate electricity and hot water. They are devising a solar collector to be used on blacktops across North America. And they're not the only ones thinking of transportation energy solutions. Researchers at the University of Toronto are looking at ways of producing fuel from algae on a micro scale.

Product recall. Bacteria found in hand sanitizer used in public areas

A hand sanitizer meant to protect people against germs is being recalled because of microbial contamination.

Kimberly-Clark is recalling its Kleenex-brand Luxury Foam Hand Sanitizer after company testing detected bacteria that may pose serious risks to people with weakened immune systems.

Health Canada says people with the lung disorder cystic fibrosis are especially vulnerable.

The affected hand sanitizer comes in one-litre and 1.2-litre containers, and is used in large-volume dispensers, such as those found in public areas and workspaces.

The recall affects about 430 containers, which were distributed to retail stores and wholesalers across Canada. Companies or individuals should remove the product from use. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Low risk for healthy

- The bacteria identified in the tested samples are from the burkholderia cepacia group. These bacteria pose little risk to healthy Canadians, as their bodies are able to successfully fight off infections, Health Canada said Thursday.

Flight diverted due to windshield crack

An Air Canada flight travelling from Toronto to London, England, was diverted to Halifax early Thursday because of a crack in the cockpit's windshield.

A spokeswoman for the Halifax Stanfield International Airport says officials received the call about the diversion around 3 a.m. and Flight 862 landed safely at 5:17 a.m.

Air Canada regional spokeswoman Isabelle Arthur says no emergency was declared, and the flight proceeded to Halifax without incident. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Judges allow 2004 case against Canada's major wireless carriers after several appeals

The Supreme Court of Canada is allowing a class-action lawsuit against Canadian cellphone companies over system-access fees to proceed.

The suit against some of the country's biggest wireless carriers, including Rogers, Telus and Bell Mobility, was launched in 2004.

The companies appealed the certification of the suit all the way to the Supreme Court, which dismissed the appeal Thursday — paving the way for it to proceed.

As is customary, the high court did not provide reasons for its decision.

The suit alleges the cellphone companies wrongfully collected the fees from customers, which were in addition to other monthly fees for phone service.

It calls for the respondents to be reimbursed.

The lawsuit claims that monthly "system-access fees" were created in response to annual fees charged by the government.

However, "these fees amount to less than 20 per cent of the additional charges being charged to their customers under the guise of government taxes," the claim says.

The access-fee charge, typically $6.95, "bears no relation to any actual cost of providing wireless or cellular services, but was an amount selected ... by the defendants to proliferate the misrepresentation (that) ... charges were being collected as a tax on behalf of a government agency." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Out of appeals

"We are confident the case is without merit and baseless, at least as it related to Telus."

'They asked for my autograph'

First woman TTC driver. TTC to pay tribute to Edith Asboth, whose hiring was a sign of Canada's growing gender equality in the 1970s

Edith Asboth
TARA WALTON/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

She was the first female driver hired permanently by the TTC, but Edith Asboth doesn't think anything of it.

"It was in the papers, but it didn't mean much to me," said the 83-year-old retiree. "It didn't make any difference because I liked the job."

In 1973, Asboth joined the transit commission as its first post-Second World War female "operator," to much fanfare. Then 44, she applied for the job on July 13 and passed the TTC's initial exams before starting 28 days of driver training shortly thereafter, according to Torstar News Service archives.

Asboth drove the subway and trolley buses on the Warden and Main Street routes for two years, before moving to Vancouver. "(People) followed me around, and asked for my autograph all the time," she said.

Forty years later, TTC chair Karen Stintz and other staff will pay tribute to her Friday morning at a commission meeting.

"We thought it was a nice gesture to pay recognition," said spokeswoman, Jessica Martin.

Despite being outnumbered by her male colleagues, Asboth, who returned to Toronto five years ago, said she never had problems. "Everybody was very considerate and helpful."

Before working at the TTC, she had extensive experience as a driving instructor, teaching driver's ed to high school students and later, to fellow instructors.

Families mourn as outrage mounts in Elliot Lake

Blame game begins. Mall owner's lawyer admits the collapse 'will undoubtedly lead to litigation'

An array of accusations from local residents, death threats against a mall owner and the prospect of a class-action lawsuit all collided in the aftermath of a deadly roof collapse in Elliot Lake in northern Ontario Thursday, even as the province promised to scrutinize every angle of the tragedy.

Those closest to the victims, however, said their many unanswered questions could wait while they mourned.

"Frankly, I myself have a lot of unanswered questions. Now is not the time to be asking those questions," said an emotional Gary Gendron, whose fiancée Lucie Aylwin was killed in the collapse at Algo Centre Mall. Gendron did add, however, that he hadn't considered his fiancée's place of work a safe one.

Unanswered questions

"The basic question is: why did this happen and why was this permitted to happen?"

Ontario New Democrat Mike Mantha
His constituency office was in the mall, and he said there were numerous complaints from residents about the mall's condition.

"I think myself, that mall should have been closed long time ago," he said, drawing cheers from a group of local residents. "People made a lot of complaints about the mall but nothing changed."

After an arduous five-day rescue mission which ended with the retrieval of two bodies, Premier Dalton McGuinty promised Thursday that the province will "carefully review" how it responded to the collapse.

Refugee care. Students send 59 cents to Harper, ask others to do same

A group of university students in Winnipeg is sending 59 cents to Prime Minister Stephen Harper and wants other Canadians to do likewise.

The students at the Canadian School of Peacebuilding at the Canadian Mennonite University say that's all it would cost every Canadian a year to restore health-care benefits to refugees.

Starting Saturday, Citizenship and Immigration Canada will stop paying for supplemental health benefits for refugees during their first year here.

The cuts prompted health-care professionals to rally across Canada, including in Winnipeg at The Forks on June 18.

And it inspired the students to take action — they created a video, now posted on YouTube in which they ask all Canadians to send 59 cents to the Prime Minister's Office "to let him know that we will not stand for these cuts."

It shows people finding loose change in couch cushions and sock drawers, then mailing it to the prime minister.

"We believe that if Canadians stop to consider the effect which these changes will have on the most vulnerable portion of our global society, that our country's annual savings of 59 cents per person to keep the federal Interim Health Program open for refugees will be seen as insignificant," the video says. THE CANADIAN PRESS

What's it worth to you?

59¢

The anticipated saving of cutting the program works out to $20 million a year and, divided by Canada's population, that equals 59 cents per person, student Matt Dueck, 25, figured.

‘Generation rent’ choosing urban life

New wave. U.S. city growth surpasses that of suburbia as young adults prefer to rent

For the first time in a century, most of America’s largest cities are growing at a faster rate than their surrounding suburbs.

New 2011 census estimates released Thursday highlight the dramatic switch.

Driving the resurgence are young adults, who are delaying careers, marriage and children amid college debt and persistently high unemployment.

While economists tend to believe the city boom is temporary, that is not stopping many city-planning agencies and apartment developers from seeking to boost their appeal to the sizable demographic of 18-to-29-year-olds. They make up roughly 1 in 6 Americans, and some sociologists are calling them “generation rent.”

“I will never live in the suburbs,” said Jaclyn King, 28, who rents a house in Denver. “I just like being connected to everything down here — concerts, work, restaurants, all of it. This is where everything’s at.”

The last time growth in big cities surpassed that in outlying areas occurred prior to 1920, before the rise of mass-produced automobiles spurred expansion beyond city cores. Businesses are taking notice.

“There’s a bigger focus on building residences near transportation hubs, such as a train or subway station, because fewer people want to travel by car for an hour and a half for work anymore,” said Royal Shepard, an analyst with S&P Capital IQ.

Sociologist Katherine Newman chronicled the financial struggles of young adults in a recent book. From 2009 to 2011, just nine per cent of 29–to-34-year-olds were approved for a first-time mortgage.

“Young adults simply can’t amass the down payments needed and don’t have the earnings,” she said. “They will be renting for a very long time.”

But some economists aren’t so certain “generation rent” will last, pointing to practical considerations such as better schools in suburbs, government tax breaks for home ownership and subsidies for travel in rural areas, as well as rapidly rising downtown rents.

- City growth surpassed or equaled that of suburbs in roughly 33 of 51 large metro areas, compared to just five in the last decade.

Dodging the relentless crow

A crow dive-bombs Melanie Lochert as she walks across the Morrison Bridge Thursday in Portland, Ore. Turkey deploys heavy weaponry to Syrian border as tensions rise

Former allies. Turkey now among strongest critics of Assad regime; violence in Syria has claimed some 14,000 lives

Syrians inspect burned cars at the site of a blast in the Syrian capital of Damascus on Thursday. MUZAFFAR SALMAN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turkey deployed anti-aircraft guns, rocket launchers and other weapons along its border with Syria on Thursday.

It was a military buildup that came as world powers showed new urgency to resolve the crisis in Syria before it ignites the region.

A bomb exploded in central Damascus near a busy market and the country's main justice complex, wounding at least three people, damaging cars in a parking lot and sending a black cloud rising above the Syrian capital.

It was not clear who was behind the bombing.

Much of the violence that has gripped Syria since the uprising began in March 2011 has been sanctioned by the government of President Bashar Assad to crush dissent.

Rebel fighters are launching increasingly deadly attacks on regime targets, and several massive suicide attacks this year suggest al-Qaida or other extremists are joining the fray.

Turkey, a former ally of Syria, has become one of the strongest critics of the Assad regime, and tensions between the two countries spiked following the downing of a Turkish military plane last week. A small convoy of Turkish military trucks towing anti-aircraft guns entered a military outpost on the border opposite a similar Syrian outpost. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More and more flee Syria

The UN refugee agency says the number of people fleeing the violence in Syria could double to 185,000 by the end of the year.

Agency officials say the number of refugees who have fled Syria has already doubled to 96,000 since March, forcing them to redraw their plans for how best to help — and the amount of money they will need to provide the help.

A UN official praised Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon and Turkey for "tremendous generosity" by providing refugee camps and other help.

Greek police make arrests in fake-euro-coin scam

Funny money.
Busts came after tip from authorities in neighbouring Bulgaria

Police in northern Greece have arrested two men accused of making tens of thousands of counterfeit two-euro coins.

A Bulgarian man, 59, and a 41-year-old alleged Greek accomplice were arrested near Greece's second largest city, Thessaloniki. Police were also seeking the arrest of a 40-year-old Greek man.

Police seized thousands of nickel- and copper-alloy pieces used to make the coins. They also seized machinery that embeds the coins with the Greek national design.

The arrests were made in Epanomi, 20 kilometres outside Thessaloniki.

Police worked with the European Union's crime-fighting agency Europol.

Bosnia. Karadzic acquitted on one charge of genocide, trial continues

The Yugoslav war-crimes tribunal acquitted former Bosnian Serb leader Radovan Karadzic of one charge of genocide Thursday but upheld 10 other war crimes counts, all relating to atrocities in Bosnia's bloody war.

While the decision was a setback for prosecutors and angered survivors in Bosnia, the 10 pending charges against Karadzic include another genocide count covering his alleged involvement in the 1995 Srebrenica massacre of 8,000 Muslim men and boys.

The charge that was dismissed Thursday covered the mass killings, expulsions and persecution by Serb forces of Muslims and Croats from Bosnian towns early in the country's 1992-95 war.

Judge Oh-Gon Kwon said prosecutors did not provide enough evidence to "be capable of supporting a conviction of genocide in the (Bosnian) municipalities."

The trial will continue later this year on the remaining counts. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vatican City

Rare Vatican press conference

The Vatican bank, one of the most secretive institutions in the Vatican, opened its doors to journalists Thursday in a bid to show it is serious about fighting money-laundering and being more financially transparent.

During a three-hour PowerPoint presentation, the bank's director Paolo Cipriani outlined the unusual nature of the Institute for Religious Works, the bank's official name.

He also sought to refute media allegations that the bank has been less than co-operative with requests for financial information.

There are ongoing suspicions by Italian authorities that it hasn't abided by anti-money laundering norms.

Does loyalty mean better insurance rates?

Drivers should look past loyalty as a means to saving money.

Many drivers assume that staying with the same insurance company for a long period of time leads to the best car insurance rates. While this may be true for some people who have a good driving profile and obtain loyalty discounts, it is not always the case. The rates charged by different insurance companies to insure the same driver, with the same car, for the exact same coverage, can vary by hundreds and even thousands of dollars. And with so many insurance companies providing car insurance in Ontario, odds are you are not currently insured with the company that offers the best rate for your driving profile.

One of the ways insurance companies try to keep customers around is by offering perks to loyal customers. Often insurance customers believe that by looking for a new insurance policy they will wind up paying more since they'll have to forfeit any loyalty discounts and perks they have earned. In many cases, however, a lower rate with another insurance company could save you money because the rate difference offsets any earned loyalty rewards from your current company. There is no risk to taking some time to shop around and get insurance quotes. And your current insurer will not know that you are looking, unless you tell them. Comparing car insurance quotes will give you a better idea of how your current rate stacks up in comparison with what is available at another company.

Insurance quoting sites like InsuranceHotline.com can help by providing an independent, unbiased rate comparison from a network of over 30 insurance companies to find you a lower rate available for your profile.

You don't owe loyalty to your insurance provider. You owe money.

And possibly too much.

Canadians turn over new patriotic leaf

National pride swells. Canada is becoming a nation of flag wavers, new survey shows

The provocative results of a new survey challenge the long-held notion that Canadians are reluctant to be as outwardly patriotic as their brash American neighbours.

The Ipsos-Reid online survey of 1,100 people — conducted for the Historica-Dominion Institute in the days leading up to the Canada Day long weekend — suggest the Canadian sense of national pride is becoming an in-your-face swagger.

That is particularly true when it comes to the country's most potent national symbol: The maple leaf.

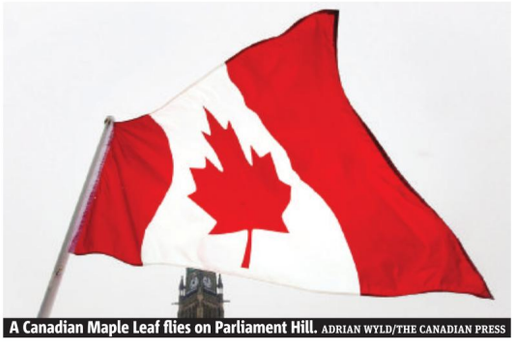
One in five of those surveyed said they would consider getting a tattoo of a Canadian flag somewhere on their body. They didn't say where.

But respondents from Saskatchewan and Manitoba seemed the most eager, as well as those under 55.

"We're talking about a country that traditionally was not very extroverted in a way that Americans or Brits are," said Jeremy Diamond, the institute's national director.

"We're breaking a mould here. We're breaking out of our conservative feelings that the flag should only be flown a certain way."

In fact, 74 per cent of those surveyed agreed that displaying the flag in any way possible is appropriate, including on their underwear (61 per cent) or on a garage (86 per cent). THE CANADIAN PRESS



A Canadian Maple Leaf flies on Parliament Hill. ADRIAN WYLD/THE CANADIAN PRESS

You show your Maple Leaf under where?

- The survey suggests that when it comes to the maple leaf, Canadians consider it their overwhelming choice for a national symbol, at 59 per cent — and they like seeing it everywhere, even on their underwear.
- The Mounties in red serge, industrious beavers and well-worn hockey jerseys — these stodgy icons each garnered only 10 per cent support when respondents were asked to pick a national symbol.
- The polar bear, Inukshuk and canoe were even further behind. Poutine wafted into the survey at two per cent, smothering Anne of Green Gables at one per cent.

Why our flag is a keeper

"It's recognized around the world. It's very distinctive. It's very simple. It's very clear, and it's got a long history."

Deborah Morrison, president of Canada's History Society, on the Maple Leaf

+ $500 discount for Volkswagen owners†

Think affordable.

More affordable than ever.

When the first Volkswagen arrived in Canada way back in 1952 people asked questions they wouldn't have asked of any other car manufacturer. Things like "Why is it smiling?" and "Where's the engine?". Their next question would usually be "How much?". "$1,595" was the answer back then, if you're wondering. Well, sixty years and more than 21 million Beetles later, we're marking the occasion with a special finance offer that makes our most popular models more affordable than ever before. Yes, ever. The best-selling 2012 Jetta starts from only $15,875* and the award-winning 2012 Passat from only $23,975*. People don't usually ask where the engine is anymore, but once they've driven a Volkswagen for the first time they are still surprised by how affordable it is.

Google releases Chrome browser for iPhone, iPad

Google's Chrome browser can now be used to surf the web on the iPhone and iPad.

The Chrome application released Thursday is the latest volley in the escalating rivalry between Google and Apple, which makes those two popular mobile devices.

The announcement highlighted the second day of Google I/O, an annual conference that the company hosts in San Francisco for computer programmers around the world.

Google's attempt to supplant Apple's own Safari browser comes a day after it unveiled plans to sell a low-priced tablet computer to compete against the iPad and Amazon's Kindle Fire.

If Chrome turns out to be a hit on Apple's mobile devices, it could help boost Google's profits, even though it's free, because Google now shares some advertising revenue with Apple in exchange for Apple building the Google search engine into the mobile version of Safari.

The arrival of Chrome on Apple's mobile operating system comes a month after Yahoo released a browser called Axis for the iPhone and iPad.

Google said Thursday that Chrome now has 310-million active users, up from 160 million just a year ago.

Research In Motion still stumbling

First-quarter results. Troubled tech firm's shares plunge after news of deep job cuts and postponed launch of the BlackBerry 10

Research In Motion delivered a shopping list of bad news Thursday as the BlackBerry-maker delayed its new operating system and smartphones until next year, announced it will cut a third of its workforce and posted dismal earnings results.

The series of announcements shocked the market, which was already expecting a loss from the company, but chief executive Thorsten Heins said RIM is determined to stay the course.

As the company pushes ahead with its plans there will be plenty of casualties, in particular the 5,000 employees that the troubled smartphone company says will be laid off across its global operations before the end of the year.

The Waterloo, Ont.-based company also faces further pressure on its financial results as it endures another seven to nine months without a new product on the market.

RIM, which reports in U.S. dollars, posted a loss of $518 million or 99 cents per share for its latest quarter, a steep decline from the profit of $695 million or $1.33 per share a year ago.

Excluding one-time items including a non-cash charge to goodwill, the company said it lost $192 million or 37 cents per share diluted — steeply missing expectations.

Revenue for the three months fell to $2.81 billion, less than the $3.1 billion analysts had predicted, and dramatically lower than $4.91 billion a year earlier.

In a conference call with analysts, Heins said that RIM's software developers faced more challenges than they expected when it came to integrating certain features into the new operating system. As a result, a launch this year was "no longer realistic."

TOP 9 THINGS THAT NEED TO BE KNOWN IMMEDIATELY

THE LIST
Paul Sullivan
Metro

On Wednesday it was the Canada Day List, highlighting 10 great things about Canada. Today it's the Metro List, our authoritative tally of the most noteworthy events of the week.

1 You want a list? I'll give you a list. Because we're so big on lists around here, we tip our hats in the general direction of the Maclean's Book of Lists, which, even though it's from the competition, is the Mother of All Lists, including 12 things you didn't know were invented by Canadians, the top-10 crying hockey players, eight Canadian sitcoms that sucked and seven facts about winning the lottery. Plus it hits the stands on Canada Day (see above).

2 Obamacare. The president's medical-coverage scheme survives the U.S. Supreme Court. Now it's the law that every American must have health coverage. It's kind of like being a Canadian. Too bad Fox and CNN, in the race to be first, got it dead wrong, reporting that SCOTUS struck the law down and then correcting themselves. Red faces all around.

3 Speaking of Obama. A poll says 65 per cent of Americans think he'll do better than Mitt Romney if there's an alien invasion. Either they believe he was born in Kenya, and is therefore an alien himself, or they think Romney would declare all the aliens illegal and deport them back to Alpha Centauri.

4 He's not crying. Sidney Crosby signs a deal to make $104 million US to play hockey for the Pittsburgh Penguins for the next 12 years. Gordie Howe, a 23-time NHL all-star, made $100,000 in his highest-paid season. In his 103-point best year, he was the third-highest paid guy on the team, making $45,000.

5 Tennis, anyone? Wimbledon considers introducing a court-side grunt-o-meter to measure the decibel count on grunts from female tennis players. Maria Sharapova can hit decibels — 101 — greater than a jackhammer and a motorcycle.

6 The Algo Centre Mall. The commercial heart of Elliot Lake, Ont., collapses. Tragedy strikes anyone, any day, but can't we make sure that malls don't collapse? Like, build it right to begin with.

7 Naked truth. The Canadian national women's rugby team bares all for a fundraising calendar. The Canadian national men's rugby team promises not to publish a naked calendar if we give them money.

8 Bieber Watch. Justin Bieber enjoys the year's biggest debut as his latest album, Believe, sold 374,000 copies in its first week, according to figures from Nielsen SoundScan. I wonder who'll buy lunch at the Overpaid Café: Justin or Sidney? Sigh.

9 Happy Canada Day. Bonne Fête du Canada. Păomă jiānádà guóqìng rì.

COMING SOON! Woody Allen's TO ROME WITH LOVE, In Theatres July 6

In Ted, Mark Wahlberg's girlfriend (Mila Kunis) gives him an ultimatum — choose between her, or his beloved talking teddy bear. HANDOUT

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Over-bearing humour?

Ted. Without network censors on his case, Seth MacFarlane lets the politically incorrect jokes fly in new comedy

Richard: The novelty of watching a stuffed bear spout words that would make a biker blush fades soon after the opening credits. After that the movie relies on Seth MacFarlane's trademarked blend of awkward, inappropriate humour to get laughs, and you know what? It works. I didn't feel good about laughing at some of the gags, but I laughed. You?

Mark: Yes, I laughed. There are some very good jokes in the movie, although the film isn't as innovative as it wants us to believe. It's very similar to movies like You, Me, and Dupree which asks the main character to choose between his romantic interest and boorish but lovable best friend. In this case the best friend is a teddy bear, but the dynamic is the same. If you've ever loved one of those dirty ventriloquist acts this movie is surely for you. But the bottom line is: I laughed.

Synopsis

When John Bennett (Mark Walhberg) was a small, lonely child, he wished for just one thing — a best friend. His wish came true, and Ted (voice of Seth MacFarlane), his trusty teddy bear, came to life. The pair became "Thunder Buddies" for life, which causes problems when John grows up and moves in with his girlfriend Lori (Mila Kunis). After four years of living with John and the pot-smoking, foul-mouthed Ted, she makes an ultimatum: it's either her or the stuffed, stoned bear.

- Richard: ●●●○○
- Mark: ●●●○○

RC: Fans of Family Guy already know what to expect from the big screen directorial debut of Seth MacFarlane. As the writer and the voice behind Peter Griffin on that show he has redefined the limits of what is acceptable on prime-time TV. Now, imagine that without a network censor looking over his shoulder. It's not the concept that pushes the envelope it's the material. It's filled with the kind of jokes you tell around the water cooler the next day, but only in a whisper.

MB: And three cheers to MacFarlane for it! Most movie comedies confuse political incorrectness with cheap gross-out humour but MacFarlane is closer in tone to the South Park creators — there isn't an ethnic or special needs group left unscathed. Animators have known for a long time that when you put these jokes in the mouths of non-humans, it takes away enough of the sting to let them slide. Anything in particular make you laugh?

RC: Like any five-year-old I always giggle at flatulence jokes. I'm not proud of it, but there you have it. They make me laugh and Ted has a restaurant scene involving gassiness and some outraged businessmen that is to passing-gas-scenes what the Odessa Steps sequence is to Battleship Potemkin.

MB: You just made Eisenstein roll over in his grave. I loved the wisecracks and most of the flashback scenes. But the over-the-top motel room fight between man and teddy bear will stay with me forever.

Snoop detained in Norway?

Norwegian media are reporting that Snoop Dogg was briefly detained in Norway after entering the country with marijuana and a large amount of cash. Customs officials decline to confirm the report, saying only that an American artist entered Norway with a small amount of marijuana. Norwegian law prevents law enforcement officials from naming suspects. A customs officer who spoke on condition of anonymity said Thursday that the artist was also carrying more cash than is legally allowed and was subsequently fined $8,600 for the violations. Snoop Dogg was scheduled to perform Thursday at a musical festival in the town of Kristiansand.

Drama

Take this Waltz

Director. Sarah Polley

Stars. Michelle Williams, Seth Rogen, Luke Kirby

●●●○○

Actor-turned-filmmaker Sarah Polley's follow-up to Away From Her is as poignant as her Oscar-nominated debut. Delving into themes of emotional turmoil, the drama explores a married woman (Michelle Williams) and her repressed desire to seek fulfillment in a bohemian artist. While the premise reeks of convenience (they meet in Halifax only to discover they're neighbours!), Polley's script carries a soft intensity while the cast (particularly Williams) make the film worth waltzing to the multiplex for.

People Like Us

Director. Alex Kurtzman

Stars. Chris Pine, Elizabeth Banks, Olivia Wilde

●●○○○

Sam (Pine) is a selfish salesman who only cares about money. So when his dad passes away and leaves him $150,000, Sam is over the moon — until he finds out the fortune is for a sister he never knew he had. Unsure if he'll give up the money, Sam develops a friendship with his sister, Frankie (Banks), but doesn't reveal their true relationship. Banks is delightful as a fiery single mom, but the film is too long and there are a couple of unnecessary characters that distract from what could have been a decent drama.

REGAN REID

Drama

Magic Mike

Director. Steven Soderbergh

Stars. Channing Tatum, Matthew McConaughey

●●●○○

It would be challenging to make a truly serious movie about male strippers and luckily, director Steven Soderbergh doesn't. A semi-autobiographical story about its chiseled star Channing Tatum, Magic Mike explores the struggle of an "entrepreneur" whose real dream isn't to dance on top of furniture but to build it. It loses strength when the plot turns transparent but the cast (particularly Matthew McConaughey) really has their mojo working.

STEVE GOW

Documentary

Town of Runners

Director. Jerry Rothwell

Stars. Hawii Megersa, Alemi Tsegaye

●●●○○

An eye-opening look at a tiny Ethiopian town that produces some of the world's best athletes, Town of Runners inspires most when its focus is on the charming coach that leads the mission. A bit like Hoop Dreams set in impoverished Africa, the film is certainly inviting if not a bit thin on analysis.

Documentary

Flamenco, Flamenco

Director. Carlos Saura

Stars. José Mercé, Paco de Lucia

●●○○○

A sequel to his singular-titled 1995 documentary, Carlos Saura's Flamenco Flamenco films 21 performances of energetic Spanish dance routines amidst beautifully-shot backdrops. While the dances are impressive and passionate, without subtitles or a contextual narrative it won't keep everyone's toes tapping for the duration.

Dark Horse

Director. Todd Solondz

Stars. Jordan Gelber, Selma Blair

●○○○○

Misanthropic filmmaker Todd Solondz (Happiness) returns with more misery for the multiplexes in Dark Horse — the tale of a detestable 30-something loser that seeks salvation from a depressed woman. As one character tells the constantly-scowling Abe, "no one needs you." The same could be said for Solondz's sinking outlook in this hopeless hero.

Oliver Stone takes issue with wars — even when they are wars on drugs

Savages. Filmmaker's latest project takes a fictional look at Mexican drug cartels moving into the U.S.

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Oliver Stone is no stranger to controversial topics — or controversial films. In his latest, Savages, he takes on the ongoing, bloody Mexican drug war, with kidnapping and violence erupting when a cartel attempts a hostile takeover of two Stateside growers (Aaron Johnson and Taylor Kitsch) and the girlfriend they share (Blake Lively).

How do you go about approaching such a real, current and deadly topic with a fictional film?

Well, we're based on a book, so this is not a Traffic-like approach docudrama about the situation. We really took on a hypothetical fiction. This movie was about a situation that could happen but hasn't happened, which is that a cartel would move in on some niche, boutique growers, independent growers who grow high-grade product here in the United States.

Savages opens next Friday. CONTRIBUTED

What are your own feelings about the drug war?

Well, you'd have to go back to 1969. Why do you have to declare a war on drugs? I didn't understand it, and I don't know why America loves the concept of war — war in Vietnam, war in Iraq, war in Afghanistan. It's just endless wars. By fighting a war you put a huge amount of money in, the budgets go up and a lot of corruption ensues. That's the history of war. Not only that but America has screwed itself by creating a prison system that's out of control and a Drug Enforcement Agency that is well beyond insane in terms of creating scenarios. And you have also hurt Mexico deeply because you created corruption on a huge, vast scale in Mexico as well as driving up the price of herbs like marijuana. It could cost a lot less.

What about the prospect of marijuana legalization in the States?

I don't see much progress recently, with the Obama administration going against it. The California state laws are far more liberal and hopefully will prevail in the progressive movement, but with an election? Forget it. Stupidity rules. It's the lowest common denominator. At the very least, decriminalization. How about that? Let's empty the prison population, which is enormous in this country.

Of course, marijuana isn't the only drug fueling this situation.

How about differentiating marijuana from cocaine? Let's start with scientific analyses about marijuana and its true effect. That would be a very sane place to start this argument. Cocaine is another version of another kind of thing, and I do think it should be medicalized as well because there's huge amounts of money to be made otherwise. So if it could be taxed and medicalized and used sanely, it would make sense.

Andrew Garfield stars in The Amazing Spider-Man, which hits theatres next Tuesday. HANDOUT

Andrew Garfield spins himself a nervous web

The Amazing Spider-Man. Actor had plenty of anxiety over doing justice to one of his favourite comic book characters

HEIDI PATALANO
Metro World News in New York

Now that The Amazing Spider-Man is finally about to hit theatres, it seems as though star Andrew Garfield will at last be able to get a full eight hours of sleep.

"I've been nervous for the last two years, it seems," he explains. "Every day, there's been something that's made me have to suppress shaking."

Clearly the British actor felt some pressure after taking up the mantel of Spidey that recently was worn by Tobey Maguire in the three installments that ran from 2002-2007. But it was Garfield's personal connection to Marvel's signature comic book character that got him all tied up in knots, so to speak, for the reboot.

"We all have that one fictional character, at least, that we all care about so much," he says. "If ever that opportunity came for any of us to play it, to serve it, do it justice, when that moment comes, you're like, 'I'm not allowed to sleep. I'm not allowed to think about anything else! I need to dedicate everything to this person that's given me so much in my life that I want to give all of myself to it.'"

Garfield's not the kind of actor who comes off as disingenuous — unless of course, it's in the script. But his naturally quiet, smart, somewhat befuddled nature comes across in his iteration of Spider-man, who's more fidgety and anxious than the Spideys before him. That aspect of the masked hero's DNA was what Garfield held on to.

"That was how I always felt growing up — I felt like an underdog. I was a skinny kid. I always thought I should have been bigger for some reason, because society tells you that," he says. "I played rugby, and I was good at it but I got concussed all the time because I was a weakling. So that was something that I identified with for Peter, because he felt stronger on the inside than he did on the outside ... and there's nothing better than seeing a skinny guy beat the crap out of big guys."

A weakling, he might have been at one time, but Garfield will be poised for superstardom should this reboot of Spider-man franchise take off.

Staying grounded

Andrew Garfield has made a vow that he'll audition for every role he's interested in — an unconventional practice for well-established actors. "I've had to work for everything that I've been a part of and this is what's satisfying about it, because you know that they really looked at everyone, and you are the right person for that particular story and that particular moment."

Emma Stone. Actress has fun falling in love all over again — for the first time

Emma Stone plays Peter Parker's first love, Gwen Stacy. HANDOUT

Emma Stone has quickly become one of the most in-demand actresses in Hollywood. Since her breakout role in Superbad in 2007, she's not only racked up a number of lead roles, such as in The Help and Easy A, but she's also been nominated for a slew of awards for her work. Today, she sits atop a major comic book franchise with Andrew Garfield in the reboot of The Amazing Spider-Man.

Stone and Garfield themselves may be re-writing the rules when it comes to the Spider-Man franchise, which audiences had last seen in 2007 with the third installment, starring Tobey Maguire and Kirsten Dunst, as Mary Jane Watson. In this iteration, helmed by 500 Days of Summer director Marc Webb, Stone plays Peter Parker's first love, Gwen Stacy. With Garfield and Stone romantically involved off-screen, the intense connection they have in front of the camera is that much more believable, as the actress herself hints. "This kind of swept me off of my feet because she is truly in love with him," Stone says of her and Garfield's characters. "I wanted to experience that feeling of first love before you know what it's like to get your heart completely shattered — that life or death love. It's a matter of un-learning, and becoming 17 again, and letting yourself be 17 in this moment. It's fun, you guys should try it; it's pretty cool to feel that way again."

Denise Richards channels her inner Tyler Perry

Madea's Witness Protection. Actress talks about the most awkward scene she was handed in the latest installment of the Madea franchise

AARTI VIRANI
Metro World News in New York

As she munches on Peanut M&Ms, exchanges a quick word with her publicist and taps out a lightning-fast text message — "I'm so sorry, just making arrangements with the kids," she blurts — Denise Richards is every bit the multi-tasking mom. But in a matter of hours, she'll dial up the glamour, working the red carpet for the premiere of Madea's Witness Protection, the seventh installment in Tyler Perry's ever-expanding franchise.

Out Friday, the raucous comedy is centred on George Needleman (Eugene Levy), an honest but absent-minded Wall Street CFO, who learns his firm is operating a mob-backed Ponzi scheme. When Brian, a federal prosecutor from Atlanta (Perry) places George and his family in the safest hideaway he can think of — his Aunt Madea's down South — what unfolds is a whacky collision of cultures, punctuated with brazen one-liners, courtesy of Perry's fearless, larger-than-life matriarch.

"I haven't seen (the film) yet," confesses Richards, 41, who plays George's aggravated second wife, Kate. "My girls won't be embarrassed? Like, 'mom, you're acting really weird?,'" she asks with a self-conscious giggle. She's referring to an especially outrageous scene where Kate channels Madea's thunderous, trademark holler in a last-ditch effort to discipline her spoiled stepdaughter (Danielle Campbell). "Thank god they sprung that scene on me on set, otherwise I would've gotten myself worked up," she admits. "It was intimidating. I was imitating Tyler Perry imitating Madea."

Madea's Witness Protection Program opens today. HANDOUT

Richards sings sweet praises for Perry, marveling at his seamless ability to write, direct and simultaneously play three characters (in addition to Brian and Madea, Perry also portrays Uncle Joe, Madea's eccentric, live-in brother). "He's so sexy, he's got this great presence and powerful voice," Richards gushes, describing Perry's charismatic, off-screen persona. "And to go from that to Madea and Joe telling fart jokes…I'm like, how does that come out of you?"

Equally impressive was the director's ability to wrap-up shooting a week ahead of schedule — practically unheard of in Hollywood. "We finished early!" Richards exclaimed. "(Perry) was editing in his head. To have that foresight is incredible."

Amicable exes?

Richards guest stars on ex-husband Charlie Sheen's highly-anticipated comeback sitcom, Anger Management, which made its debut this week. "If it gets picked up, I'll be a recurring character," she says enthusiastically. "I think people will be surprised to see Charlie playing a different character, it's not what they're expecting."

Whirlwind cameo. Tom Arnold agrees to role in Madea out of sheer curiosity

For comedy stalwart Tom Arnold, all it took was a few, focused hours to shoot a pivotal cameo in Tyler Perry's ensemble comedy, Madea's Witness Protection.

"I came to Atlanta on a Saturday night and left the following day," explained the 53-year-old actor, recalling his whirlwind trip. "I did it to see what Tyler was like."

Fortunately, Perry exceeded his expectations, whether he was directing the cast in his outrageous Madea costume, urging them to ad-lib or just "being a cheerleader," as Arnold describes.

"I didn't know Tyler and I wanted to see if he was up for improvising, and he was more than up for it," he added. "There are lines that I made up and saw in my finished scene. Some writers are like, 'I wrote every word, I'm Bill Shakespeare,' but with Tyler, the best joke wins."

In the film, Arnold plays Walter, the seedy boss to Wall Street CFO, George Needleman (Eugene Levy), and chief schemer behind their firm's mob-backed Ponzi scheme — foul play that eventually forces the Needlemans to seek refuge with Aunt Madea (Tyler Perry). "I play a younger, more handsome, Bernie Madoff-type guy," says Arnold, exuding his signature brand of kooky, tongue-in-cheek humour.

No stranger to stories about fitting in — as the host of CMT's highly successful reality show, My Big Redneck Vacation, the star is well acquainted with the notion of culture-shock — Arnold is an enthusiastic supporter of this type of storytelling.

"At least 50 per cent of movies are fish-out-of-water tales," he declares. "The key is to find different pools for the fish to jump in and if it's done right, people like it."

These days, Arnold's balancing a plate that's practically overflowing, complete with stand-up gigs, script-writing sessions and the occasional movie role. Later this summer, he'll appear in the Kristen Bell-Bradley Cooper Hit and Run. "It also has a bit of a witness protection twist to it," he shares, amused at the parallels between an outlandish comedy and a slick action-romance.

Keeping up that good time vibe

Dance diva. Erika Jayne keeping her music's sound clean and simple

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

Erika Jayne finds herself tearing up the charts and finding new fans. HANDOUT

Since her debut in 2007, pop singer Erika Jayne has dominated the top of the Billboard Dance Chart with hits like Stars and Party People (Ignite the World). Now the Atlanta, Ga., native is bringing her act to Toronto for the Prism Festival on Friday. Metro caught up with her at her L.A. rehearsal space before she heads north.

How is rehearsal going?
It's good. You know, we're putting the show together and teaching someone new, so that's always a fun process. And it gives me a chance to brush up, for me to revisit it — a tune-up, actually.

You've been making music videos as well. What's the best use for those, now that MTV and VH1 aren't really an avenue anymore?
I think, you know, you put them on the Net, and that's really where they're found. I've had a great response, and I look forward to having bigger, better responses. And we just shot a video to my new single, Get it Tonight. We just finished it up and it should be out soon.

That video takes place in a Japanese-stylish arcade, and it's filled with my favorite things, which are boys and fun (laughs). And lots of bright colors and lots of fun and lots of smiles, you know. Hot dudes and really cute girls.

There's a great dance break in it, a partner break this time. I've never done a partner break in a video before, so that was fun. It's a really easy, fun video.

How much do you try to recreate that live?
It depends. Like, I'm not going to have boys and girls on stage this time, so I can't recreate that dance break. But there's definitely a common thread. The show is girls, hot short-shorts — we're doing (City-TV's) Breakfast Television the day before, which will be fun. It's going to be fun — super-sexy.

Where are you looking to take your music, style-wise?
I think the first album and a couple of singles after that was definitely based around the themes of fantasy, love and escape. And this new album that's coming out is really more about glitz, glamour and fun. The music is still deeply dance-rooted, it's got a lot of pop overtones, but it's still very Erika Jayne and it's a "have a good time" message. If I had to describe the new stuff, it would be glitz, glamour and fun.

Canada finally getting music hall of fame

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross

A rendering of the Hall of Fame. HANDOUT

In a speech at the Empire Club last week, Conrad Black mused "Canadians are notoriously non messianic or self-important, and have no illusions about being a light onto the world."

That's a bingo. How else to explain that the Canadian Music Hall of Fame doesn't have a proper home? Despite Canada punching far above its weight when it comes to exporting music to the world, we've done a lousy job of documenting our nation's musical achievements.

That, however, is finally starting to change. The National Music Centre in Calgary is seeing to that. Later this year, construction will begin at a corner east of downtown on a 160,000 square-foot ultra-modern facility that will span 4th Street SE from what is now an empty lot to the King Edward Hotel, a legendary (but now closed) blues joint. When completed sometime in early 2015, we will have a state-of-the-art celebration of Canadian music.

"This will be more than a place with just plaques on the wall," says Andrew Mosker, the NMC's president and CEO. "We want to make it completely immersive and interactive."

Some $75 million is already in place from three levels of government and public fundraising. There's still another $40 million to go, but things look bright.

There will be a 300-seat theatre, a recording studio, a live-work block for artists in residence, a multitude of educational facilities and a large collection of artifacts relevant to our musical history.

And it's more than just rock. There's country music, classical music and jazz (gotta get Glenn Gould and Oscar Peterson in there). Visitors will also learn about the effect geography and multiculturalism has had on our music.

"It's quite a broad vision," says Mosker, "and it will take a lot of work to execute. But we'll do it."

Meanwhile, NMC HQ — located a few blocks west of where the new building will rise — is open for business. They have one of the most spectacular collections of keyboards you will ever see. There are proto-pianos from the 16th century, Theremins from the 1920s to giant component synthesizers from the 1970s (including the actual synth used in Close Encounters of the Third Kind). The original Rolling Stones mobile recording truck is parked in storage somewhere, too.

So, if you're in Calgary for the Stampede, reserve some time to take a tour of the NMC. Everyone else should look at nmc.ca.

Twins for True Blood couple

Anna Paquin and Stephen Moyer are reportedly expecting twins — and it was one of their True Blood co-stars who let the news out.

Sam Trammell, who stars on the HBO series with Paquin and Moyer and is a father to twins himself, tells Us Weekly he's been doing his best to prepare the parents-to-be.

"It's harder, having twins, but it's all we know. So we're trying to impart some decent wisdom." Trammell says.

"I told them to hold on tight."

Brand calls for British revolution against Royals

Russell Brand is unimpressed with the British Royal Family and thinks it's time for a change. The recent Diamond Jubilee, celebrating the Queen's 60-year reign, didn't help matters, either.

"People need to have things to celebrate otherwise we realize that we are oppressed and unable to express ourselves freely because we are at the behest of all these corporate entities," Brand says in an interview with Conan O'Brien. "So yeah, have a party to distract us from the fact that we're being tyrannized, why not?"

So what's Brand's solution? "It's time for a bloody revolution," he says. "It only takes one to chop off someone's head."

Kelly Osbourne explains drunk flight

MONICA WEYMOUTH

After sobbing over a pile of cocktails on a recent flight, Kelly Osbourne wants to clear things up.

The reality show star — who has been to rehab for drugs, but admits to drinking moderately — tells Radar Online that she had been doing research about multiple sclerosis after her brother's diagnosis and became overwhelmed.

"On the plane I started looking at the website," she tells the site. "It described how bad certain cases of MS got, and it made me lose it."

Kelly, the next time all you have to say is, "I was thousands of feet up in the air in an insane machine that doesn't even have the courtesy to flap its wings." We've had that cry.

Lohan settles 'hostage' suit

Better late than never: Lindsay Lohan has finally reached a settlement for a lawsuit relating to a 2007 reckless driving incident during which she took three men "hostage" while chasing down her assistant, according to TMZ.

The incident resulted in Lohan's second DUI arrest. On the night in question, the three men arrived at a party in Malibu just as Lohan's assistant quit her job and drove off. Lohan reportedly commandeered the men's car — with them in it — to make chase.

During the chase, the men say Lohan was "hostile," declaring she "didn't care about the risk of death" and saying "she was a celebrity, she could do whatever she wants."

She was later arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and cocaine.

Lohan has reportedly agreed to pay off the three men, though the sum was undisclosed and a dismissal is expected to be filed soon.

Nothing says O Canada like gravy, cheese curds and fries

Poutine. Three Canadian chefs tell us what topping makes it the perfect dish

It's uniquely Canadian and in its purest form consists of three simple ingredients. But chefs are getting a lot more creative with poutine toppings. From bacon, and pulled pork to vegan gravy and mushrooms, if you can dream it, it can probably top your poutine.

"I like poutine with smoked meat in it. It substantiates the dish, soaks up some of the juices, keeping the fries a little crispier. Call me biased, but fries, cheese, gravy and smoked chicken makes for a fabulous dish."
David Neinstein of Barque Smokehouse

"Today, poutine can have almost any topping you can think of: Pad Thai Poutine, Butter Chicken Poutine, Braised Beef Cheeks Poutine and on and on. I have many favourite additions such as crispy pork belly, sticky beef short ribs and duck confit with green onions."
Stephen Pynn of Bannock

"For me, the perfect topping is an easy choice — lobster! As Canadians, we have a few national foods that everyone can identify and are familiar with: poutine and lobster. Why not combine them both? You are taking a classic poutine and adding a serious flavourful kick. That's easily my favourite poutine."
Matt Dean Pettit of Rock Lobster Food Co.

Oh, Canada, I remember a day when your wine looked like 50 shades of varnish and tasted almost as bad. We should all be happy that times have changed.

Canada Day is an excellent opportunity to drink to the flag and with family being such a big part of a long weekend, I can't think of a better place to start than Sibling Rivalry from Ontario's Henry of Pelham.

The 2010 VQA Red ($13.95 - $15.99) is a soothing blend of merlot, cabernet franc and cabernet sauvignon with plump berry fruit and upfront oak that's made for grilled meats. Meanwhile, the 2010 VQA White ($13.95 - $15.99) is a hip mix of riesling, chardonnay and gewürztraminer that's a sexy, seafood friendly combo of citrus and flowing aromatics.

Smokehouse. Neinstein's version boasts tasty smoked chicken

1. Place cut potatoes in bowl and let water run over them for 10 mins. In the meantime, preheat oil to 350 F using candy thermometre. Preheat oven on broiler function.

2. Strain fries and pat dry. Fry potatoes in two batches 4 minutes at a time. Let the oil heat up between batches. Place fries on paper towel to cool.

3. While fries are cooling, follow demi-glace instructions to make gravy and add a tablespoon of chopped thyme.

4. Pull meat from chicken, discarding the skin.

5. Fry potatoes second time, also in two batches, at 360 F until golden brown, about 3 to 4 minutes. Place fries on paper towel to cool, season liberally with salt and paprika.

6. Place fries in heat-proof dish, sprinkle pulled chicken, then dot with cheese curds and place in oven 3 minutes, watching that it does not burn. Remove from oven and top with gravy.

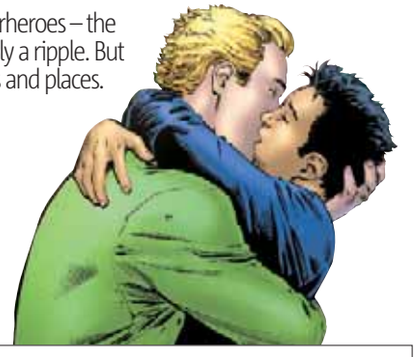
When the second issue of DC Comics' Earth 2 issue came out on June 5, 2012, so did one of the comic legend's oldest superheroes – the Green Lantern. As scandalous as it might have been for the original Lantern to be gay in 1940, the 2012 version caused barely a ripple. But is it really easier coming out as gay or lesbian now than in decades past? Here are four real-life accounts from different times and places.

KATHY ULLYOTT
Metro World News

Out: About



HANDOUT

Andrew Chase

Chef and food writer, Toronto, age 57

Coming-out age:
Just before my 18th birthday.

Coming-out story:
I was a freshman at university and adjusting to being away from home and admitting to myself that I was gay. I came out first to a friend in my dormitory whom I suspected was also gay (I was right). It was strange, natural, easy, difficult, uncomfortable and liberating.

Any negative repercussions?
I had extreme difficulties with my family when I finally came out to them 10 years later, but that mellowed to complete acceptance after about a year.

Differences between coming out now versus then:
I think coming out to oneself is probably as hard it was in my time, but society in general is obviously much more accepting today.

What I would tell a young person considering coming out as gay or lesbian today:
Do it when you feel comfortable. It can be a gradual process. Realize certain people might never understand, but that is their problem, not yours.

Caleb

Visual effects artist, Vancouver, age 25

Coming-out age: 20

Coming-out story:
I told everyone via Facebook. My parents weren't on Facebook, though, so I had to tell them in person; that was a bit more difficult.

Any negative repercussions?
No, not really; everyone was totally cool. My mom was fine; I don't think she was that surprised.

What I would tell a young person considering coming out as gay or lesbian today:
Don't stress out about it too much – tell whom you want to, people you are close to. It can be difficult to tell your parents – but there's a really good chance that they know more than you think they know.

Julia Gulliver

Preparatory chef, dishwasher and student, St. John's, age 19

Coming-out age: 15

Coming-out story:
I was in Grade 10, and my best friend knew I had a crush on someone. She tried to guess who it was, guessing every boy we know (nope!) Finally she said, "Is it a girl?" I said, "Yes!" Then I was like a runaway train, telling everybody.

Any negative repercussions?
Not really. It took my family a month or two to warm up to the fact. My mom cried. But for her it was less about my being lesbian and more about life being maybe a more difficult road for me.

What I would tell a young person considering coming out as gay or lesbian today:
Make a list of things that might happen. If you're not sure how important people (to you) might react, test the waters first by saying, 'Here's this interesting story I read ...' Proceed with caution if you don't like the reaction.

Bradley Borg

Events planner, Toronto, age 52

Coming-out age:
17, when I put words to it.

Coming-out story:
I'd kind of always been out. But when I was in high school I fell madly in love with someone so found myself putting words around it, saying 'I'm gay.'

Any negative repercussions?
Well, I had a boss once who fell in love with me; when I told her I was gay she fired me. In 1981 when my mom was dying of pancreatic cancer, she was losing her hair from the chemo and asked me to give her a punk haircut. As I was doing it, she said, 'Don't ever tell your father (that you're gay).' It wasn't that he didn't know; he just didn't want to hear it.

What I would tell a young person considering coming out as gay or lesbian today:
Just be who you are, be yourself, love who you love, be proud of who you are. I don't think there's any need to make a big pronouncement to the world. Straight people don't walk into a boardroom and say, 'Hey, everybody, I'm straight!' Why should you?

YOUR SUMMER BASE FOR FUN

EXPLORE OPEN SKY AND GREEN TERRAIN OF DOWNSVIEW PARK

What are your plans for Canada Day?

On July 1, you're invited to the official opening of the national urban park at Downsview. Arrive at dusk and you will see a fireworks show that will light up the sky, visible from anywhere on the park's grounds.

Arrive early and you will see just how much this space has been transformed in the last few years. Downsview Park was once a military base. The wide open space that base required has been repurposed, providing Toronto residents and tourists alike with a vast stretch of open sky and green terrain — only minutes from central Toronto.

Today, more than one-half of the park is set aside for recreational, cultural, community, and educational uses. In other words, for you.

Among the changes you will enjoy:

A more comfortable, accessible lakeshore walk. The 3.6-hectare (nine-acre) stormwater-fed lake at Downsview Park has benefitted from edge treatments, including seating, walkways, and gardens.

You can also traverse the newly paved and brightly lit Circuit Path, passing Boake's Grove, the lake, meadows and mounds, and a newly planted forest.

For those interested in travelling at a faster pace, the Downsview Park Sports Centre now boasts an eight-lane, 400-metre-long running track around its westernmost outdoor field.

You will also detect the sweet smell of the park's new urban orchard — a collection of hundreds of new apple trees nestling a rest stop pavilion for visitors. Come harvest time, this sustainably built pavilion will host orchard-based activities.

Survey the changes in their entirety from atop the Mound: Downsview Park's most distinctive landscape feature. Accessible by foot, the Mound peaks at approximately 20 metres (65.6 feet), making it one of the highest points in the city. It's simply one of the best views around.

To learn more about the park's new features — and lots more still to come — visit downsviewpark.ca. Join the Downsview Park conversation on Facebook at facebook.com/DownsviewParkOfficialPage and on Twitter @DownsviewPark.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

There is a lot happening at Downsview Park this summer. Whether you are young or just young at heart, with your family or on your own, you will find something right for you.

Downsview Park offers a mix of paid events and free community events all summer long. Attend concerts and music festivals, featuring major acts from around the globe. Bring a blanket and settle in for an evening's outdoor entertainment at Movies Under the Stars. Visit festivals celebrating Toronto's diverse range of cultural communities. Witness sporting events, or even participate in one, like the Downsview Park 5K Fun Run, taking place on Canada Day.

You can do it all at Downsview Park this summer. To learn more, visit downsviewpark.ca.

Salary cap inflates to $70.2M US

The NHL salary cap is going up, allowing teams to spend about $6 million US more on players this season.

Before opening labour talks, the league and the NHL Players' Association announced the cap has been set at $70.2 million US. That's a significant jump from last year's cap of $64.3 million.

Zelinka breaks own record

Jessica Zelinka is heading to the London Olympics on the heels of a Canadian-record performance.

The 30-year-old from London, Ont., broke her own national heptathlon record Thursday en route to winning the Canadian Olympic track and field trials for her seventh national title.

Zelinka posted 6599 points — the third best score in the world this year — to better her previous Canadian-record score of 6490 she set in finishing fifth in the gruelling seven-discipline heptathlon at the 2008 Beijing Olympics.

CFL EXTRA POINTS

A tumultuous CFL off-season is over and a historic campaign is about to kick off. Let's take a quick look at how the teams stack up in the chase for the 100th Grey Cup championship Nov. 25 in Toronto. PHOTOS: THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Argos

The addition of QB Ricky Ray is supposed to spark the Double Blue to a hometown Grey Cup.

Under the guidance of new head coach Scott Milanovich, the former Montreal offensive co-ordinator, the Argos offence should be better than in recent years. The addition of former Calgary defensive co-ordinator Chris Jones, whose pressure schemes were legendary in Cowtown, will make Toronto's defence tougher to attack.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats

The addition of QB Henry Burris, reunited with head coach George Cortez, made Steeltown headlines in the off-season. The signing of SB Andy Fantuz to a fleet-footed receiving corps suggests the Tabbies could contend for the cup. The Cats have question marks on defence, but may have enough talent to earn a ticket to Toronto in November.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers

The team with the longest Grey Cup drought faltered in the big game last November, the final clash for DT Doug Brown, who retired and now wears makeup on TSN.

The Bombers might be the deepest team at QB this season with Buck Pierce, Alex Brink and Joey Elliot. Construction delays with their new stadium forces the Bombers to start the season with four road games. They could find themselves in an early hole.

Montreal Alouettes

The Als' defence was crushed in the East final last fall, forcing significant changes in the offseason.

Montreal brought in new D co-ordinator Jeff Reinebold, who will likely implement a 3-4 defence. QB Anthony Calvillo, who enters his 19th CFL season and turns 40 this year, will again have to answer doubters who feel his career is coming to an end.

B.C. Lions

Defending Grey Cup champs lost head coach Wally Buono to the front office in the off-season, but replacement Mike Benevides should make a smooth transition filling the legend's shoes.

The Lions also lost defensive mainstays DL Brent Johnson, CB Davis Sanchez, LB Solomon Elimimian and DT Aaron Hunt. The champs are unlikely to repeat.

Calgary Stampeders

The Stamps experienced significant upheaval over the winter, choosing to make major changes to the roster in an effort to get younger and quicker.

The Stamps dealt former CFL most-outstanding player QB Henry Burris, and released both RB Joffrey Reynolds and WR Ken-Yon Rambo. Key will be the emergence of new starting pivot Drew Tate, who assumed the No. 1 role late last season.

Edmonton Eskimos

Fans are fuming over the trade of QB Ricky Ray to Toronto, and it won't take long to find out whether well-travelled pivot Steven Jyles can find a home in Edmonton.

The move opened up cap space for the Esks, but that doesn't matter if Jyles falls on his face wearing Green and Gold. Edmonton fans have always had great expectations, but little patience.

Saskatchewan Roughriders

After just five wins last season, the Riders not only brought in new head coach Corey Chamblin but also gutted much of their 2011 roster.

Now Chamblin has to hope QB Darian Durant, whose numbers slipped last season, can regain his form behind an improved O-line and the return of trustworthy WR Rob Bagg.

Euro 2012. Young striker nets two goals as Italians remain unbeaten against Germans in major soccer tournaments

Semifinal

Italy	Germany
2	1

Mario Balotelli finally showed some quality finishing, scoring twice in the first half Thursday to give Italy a 2-1 win over Germany and an unexpected spot in the European Championship final.

Extending its winless streak against Italy in major tournaments to eight matches, Germany had no answer for Balotelli nor Antonio Cassano's creativity.

In the 20th minute, Balotelli had no trouble getting past Holger Badstuber to head in a pinpoint cross from Cassano. Then in the 36th, the 21-year-old striker received the ball behind the defence and blasted a long shot into the top right corner.

Germany failed to trouble Italy for much of the match, but Mesut Ozil scored a consolation penalty in injury time after Federico Balzaretti was whistled for a handball.

Germany had entered the game on a world record 15-match winning streak in competitive matches.

Italy will face defending champion Spain in Sunday's final. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nadal upset in 2nd round at Wimbledon

Tennis. No. 100 Rosol deals Nadal earliest Slam loss since 2005

Rafael Nadal bumped into his unknown and unheralded opponent as they headed to a break between games. Perhaps it was incidental contact.

At the previous changeover, Nadal stood and barked at the chair umpire, complaining about being distracted by 100th-ranked Lukas Rosol while serving.

Later, Nadal shook his head and frowned when a Wimbledon official explained that, with light fading and the second-round match heading to a fifth set, they'd need a 45-minute break to close the retractable roof and turn on the lights at Centre Court.

Of all the things that rattled Nadal on Thursday evening, the most significant was Rosol's gutsy game — his 22 aces, violent groundstrokes and shot-punctuating staredowns.

Put it together and Rosol, making his debut at the All England Club, overpowered 11-time Grand Slam champion Nadal 6-7 (9), 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, one of the most astonishing results in tennis history.

Raptors pick Ross in draft

NBA. University of Washington product chosen 8th; Davis chosen first overall

There was no saviour available and never would have been, there was no perfect fit and nothing had played out precisely as they wanted.

So when it came time for the Raptors to put another piece of a very incomplete puzzle together, they took a bit of a gamble on a player who could give them something they are sorely lacking.

The choice of University of Washington swingman Terrence Ross with the eighth selection in Thursday's NBA draft certainly won't create a big "wow" factor for fans, and will hardly vault the Raptors back to relevancy in the Eastern Conference but the 21-year-old can do one thing the team needs: Shoot. And when it came right down to it, if they couldn't get the three guys they wanted most, the Raptors figured Ross's ability to make shots made him the logical choice.

"Of all the guys who were still available on the board, he is a kid who can get his shot off in an NBA game today," coach Dwane Casey said. "We feel comfortable about that."

And that, in a nutshell, sums up the first round of the draft for Toronto. Unable to drive the proceedings, they were left to react to what teams ahead of them did. And when their three top prospects — North Carolina's Harrison Barnes, Weber State's Damian Lillard and Syracuse's Dion Waiters – were gone, it was simply time to go down the list.

"You have to take who's there and available, he was our next guy on the list," said Casey.

Padding the stats

Anthony Davis averaged 14.2 points, 10.4 rebounds and 4.7 blocks in his only season with Kentucky.

Waiters went No. 5 to Cleveland, Lillard went No. 6 to Portland and when Golden State did the expected and took Barnes at No. 7, the jig was up.

Ironically, it was only through a post-season coin flip to determine slots in the draft lottery that Golden State moved ahead of Toronto and ultimately ended up with a guy the Raptors coveted.

"It happens," said Casey. "We knew that possibility was there if that happened (Barnes going to the Warriors) and then you go to Plan B … Terrence was right there next."

Ross is no slouch, even if his selection at No. 8 caught some by surprise. He averaged 16 points per game as a Washington sophomore and shot 46 per cent from the field, he's a good defender and far quicker than even Casey had thought.

"Would you start him in the NBA right now? No," said the coach. "But you would feel comfortable running a pick and roll (for him), set up his shot with a catch-and-shoot.

"Like most kids, he's got a lot of development in the NBA game but one skill that transfers and carries over at all levels is shooting."

The popular pick with fans might have been Duke guard Austin Rivers, who ended up going 10th overall to New Orleans. And while Casey admitted the Raptors had some interest, the fact Ross is right now a better shooter shifted the focus to him.

"We needed a shooter, this kid's more of an accomplished shooter than Austin right now," said Casey. "Austin's going to be a heckuva player in the NBA at his position but his shooting skills are going to have to develop, we felt."

It is now up to Casey and his coaching staff to figure out where Ross will fit on a roster with a glut of shooting guards. Ross will join DeMar DeRozan, Gary Forbes, Jerryd Bayless and whoever Toronto might uncover in free agency in that role.

Terrence Ross was selected eighth overall Thursday night. ELSA/GETTY IMAGES

But there was no small forward worth the pick, the team decided, and Casey will have to make do.

"He's more of a shooter," said Casey. "I consider DeMar a scorer, Forbes is more of a pick and roll (guy), this kid is a wing runner, get his shot up."

Meanwhile, Kentucky became the first school to go 1-2.

After the New Orleans Hornets selected Kentucky forward Anthony Davis with the No. 1 pick Thursday, Charlotte followed by taking fellow freshman Michael Kidd-Gilchrist.

'Yotes a step closer to being sold

A judge has upheld the Glendale City Council's vote on an arena lease agreement with a prospective owner of the Phoenix Coyotes.

Maricopa County Superior Court Judge Dean Fink on Thursday rejected a claim by conservative watchdog group Goldwater Institute that the city should have had open bidding on arena operations for Jobing.com Arena, the home of the Coyotes, rather than accept an offer from former San Jose Sharks CEO Greg Jamison.

"We thought it was the right decision — there wasn't a strong legal basis for this action at all," Glendale City Attorney Craig Tindall said. "We attempted to discuss with Goldwater Institute, they didn't talk to us before they filed, they didn't talk to us before they got to court. It did go to court and obviously we agree with the judge's decision."

In a lawsuit seeking to invalidate the June 8 City Council vote, Goldwater argued that arena management was not a professional service, which is exempt from the public bidding process under the Glendale city charter.

Lawyers for the city contended that it was indeed a professional service and that Jamison was the only prospective owner who could buy the team, keep it in Arizona and run the arena.

Fink, citing previous court rulings and Glendale's charter, ruled that the contract with Jamison, which would pay him an average of $15 million per year to manage the arena, fell under the scope of professional services.

NHL. Long-term deal worth $104M US, a cap hit of $8.7M each year

Sidney Crosby's superstitious nature and desire to win another Stanley Cup appear to have worked in favour of the Pittsburgh Penguins.

While the $104.4-million US, 12-year contract extension he agreed to on Thursday is clearly a massive haul, the NHL's most recognizable player could certainly have fetched more. Consider that the new deal will carry the exact same $8.7-million annual cap hit as his current one.

It didn't end up being a tough set of negotiations for Penguins general manager Ray Shero and agent Pat Brisson of CAA Sports.

"He just came back after he talked to Pat, near the end here, and just said 'This (salary) is really what I want to help out with the team,'" Shero said on a conference call. "We certainly appreciate and ownership appreciates that. It's very beneficial and says a lot about Crosby."

Quoted

"Sidney wanted to be a Penguin forever."

Pat Brisson, Sidney Crosby's agent

Born Aug. 7, 1987 — 8/7/87 — Crosby has long been drawn to those numbers. He's the only NHL player who wears No. 87 on his sweater and if he plays through the end of the extension, he will have enjoyed 17 seasons with an $8.7-million salary cap hit.

Brisson acknowledged Thursday that the contract was structured to pay more in the front portion and Crosby would be 37 when it expires.

Horoscope

Aries | March 21 - April 20. Being a can-do Aries, you always believe that nothing is beyond you but don't fall into the trap of thinking that success will come easy.

Taurus | April 21 - May 21. This may be a difficult 24 hours for you but you can make things easier for yourself by not thinking and acting as if you are a victim.

Gemini | May 22 - June 20. Times are good and about to get even better, and those who say otherwise are either too short-sighted to see the truth or enjoy talking you down.

Cancer | June 21 - July 22. The Sun in your sign at odds with Pluto today means you're going to have to choose between two vastly different options. Choose the one with which you're most comfortable.

Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. There may be times you don't take life too seriously but today even the smallest issue will be expanded in your eyes to world-shattering importance.

Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22. You may be a stickler for the rules but today take whatever shortcuts you can to get from where you are to where you need to be.

Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22. You will have to trust someone's judgment and let them take the lead role in whatever task you are jointly involved. Don't try to offer advice — just watch closely and learn.

Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21. Can you change the habits of a lifetime? You'll find out today as Pluto, your ruler, is opposed by the Sun, forcing you to adapt to situations you know little if anything about.

Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21. Be assertive today and make sure you get what you believe you deserve. If it results in a fight, well, that's how it is sometimes.

Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan 20. Make sure you are on top of the facts today because if you are not, you may make a serious error. However, once you do have all the facts, make your decision and stick with it.

Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb 18. This may be an exciting time for you but today's Sun-Pluto link urges you not to take risks that can, with a bit of foresight, be easily avoided.

Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20. The Sun in Cancer boosts your self-belief but you need to tread carefully, especially when dealing with people whose outlook on life is very different to your own. SALLY BROMPTON
